Torgy's Travel Tips

Is it jam first or last: Cornwall vs. Devon

Kathie Torgison

I never thought there were rules on the manner in which jam is applied to a scone until I traveled to Cornwall and Devon, England. And indeed, there are such rules - even to the extent that instructions are frequently posted in the windows of cafés and restaurants!

Geographically, both the duchy of Cornwall and the county of Devon are located on the Cornish Peninsula in southwest England. Cornwall occupies the southernmost end. Each are blessed with coastlines on both the Atlantic Ocean and the English Channel, which substantiates the many shipping ports and the importance of international trade dating back centuries. Recognizable coastal cities are Plymouth (where the Mayflower last set sail for America), Penzance (as in The Pirates of Penzance), Tintagel (legendary birthplace of King Arthur), St. Ives (recall the riddle/poem As I Was Going to St. Ives*...), Falmouth (port location of Winston Graham's novel Poldark), Port Isaac (the fictional village of Port Wenn in the TV series Doc Martin), and of course, Land's End (England's westernmost point).

Similarly, their inland towns and villages evoke common links to nature and literature. Bodmin Moor, Dartmoor and Exmoor occupy the higher, mostly agrarian land between the coasts. Visitors can often see the half-wild ponies grazing there upon the common grounds. These are lands made famous in Lorna Doone, Daphne du Maurier's My Cousin Rachel, and Jamaica Inn, and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's The Hound of the Baskervilles. They are also home to Sir Walter Raleigh, Sir Francis Drake and Agatha Christie. Walking trails abound in both locations, especially the South-West Coast Path, which is a national trail, is a 630-mile-long trail that covers the entire Cornish peninsula. It is not for the faint of heart! Walking the entire path, although typically done in stages by most individuals, would result in a cumulative elevation ascent and descent of 115,000 feet. This is comparable to the elevation gain achieved by climbing Mount Everest four times! Devon market towns such as Totnes, Tavistock, and Kingsbridge, as well as Cornish towns Marazion (with St. Michael's Mount just ½ mile offshore), Padstow, and Polperro offer remarkably similar traits. Most all have centuries-old roots in either fishing or tin mining, which prompted ancillary services such as food and lodging. Today, most have thriving market days which draw both locals and visitors to wait in line for fresh fish, vegetables, fruits, and bakery goods.

And that brings us back to the question at the top of this article: Is it jam first or last? The answer depends on whether you are in Cornwall or Devon. The typical "cream tea" consists of a pot of tea and a plate with a freshly baked scone accompanied by a dish of the so-called clotted cream (in Cornwall) or Devonshire cream (in Devon), as well as a small bowl of jam. Identical in taste, texture, and price, in Cornwall the jam is spread on the scone first, followed by the clotted cream. But in Devon the cream is spread onto the scone first and topped with the jam. Pictures of appropriately assembled scones are prominently displayed on menus, signs in restaurant windows, and on bakery countertops. Of course, you can assemble yours any way you desire, but rest assured, you will receive some sideways glances from the locals if you deviate from the norm! And while we are on the topic of food, Cornwall and Devon have another regional bakery item dichotomy: the pasty (not a typo). A pasty looks like a giant empanada but contains meat and potatoes and sometimes apples (or other fruit) on the other end. You hold it in your hand (or hands), and it tastes like a main course and dessert in one convenient hot, golden-brown package. The semi-circular Cornish pasty is shaped like the capital letter D and is crimped 20 times along the curved edge before it is baked. But the Devon pasty is oval shaped and folds together like a clamshell, where it is then crimped at the top.

Historically, tin miners in Cornwall and west Devon were brought hot pasties to the mines by their wives. Because the crust is dense and folded, it retained the warmth, and it could be eaten "out of hand." Stories also indicate that the miners could place a lighted candle under a shovel and reheat the delicious pasty if necessary. Many Cornish places and names seem to begin with Tre, Pol, or Pen. I even encountered a "Farm Store" (a retail shop located on family farms and staffed by the farmer's family) that chose the name Tre-Pol-Pen to honor the local vernacular. In the Cornish language, Tre means homestead, Pol means lake or pond, and Pen means hill or headland. So Poldark means dark lake, Penzance (originally spelled Pensans) means Holy Headland, and Trelawney (like Emma Thompson's character Professor Trelawney in Harry Potter) means the Lawney Farm. If you were a fan of the British series Doc Martin, you will surely remember the inept Police Constable Joe Penhale. Translated literally, he would be Joe Moorhead. By the way, there are nearly two dozen places in Cornwall named Penhale!

So, how do you get to these places? High-speed trains on Great Western Railway from London Paddington to Penzance, which sits at the end of the Cornish peninsula, take about five hours. Local buses connect the smaller villages, and there are ample lodging choices whether you prefer to be near the water or perhaps inland on the moors. Although most travelers opt for a car rental, you may want to reconsider this choice before committing to a right-hand-drive vehicle. The roads here are narrow and winding. Most are wide enough for one car but are considered two-way roads. The high hedgerows which line both sides of the road disguise the ancient rock walls hiding within. Swerving to avoid another car could be a costly mistake. The proper protocol here is to stop and politely determine which car should back up to a slightly wider spot in order for the other car to pass through. It's a way of life in Cornwall. On our recent visit here, we opted to join a small (14-person) tour group in London for a five-day trip to Devon and Cornwall, which also included a visit to Stonehenge, Bath, and Salisbury Cathedral (which contains one of the four known copies of the 1215 Magna Carta). The van was perfect for navigating the narrow roads, and our driver provided excellent historical and current information everywhere we stopped. Although we are fiercely independent travelers, we never could have learned so much if we had tried doing this on our own.

If you're interested, Go Tours UK offers several five-day tours using small vans. Their tours begin and end in London. Perhaps the beautiful Lake District or the Cotswolds may appeal to you as well as this tour to Cornwall. Check out Go Tours UK (www.gotoursuk.com).

By the way, the answer to the St. Ives riddle is 1, because all the others were traveling in the opposite direction!

Dealing with the Loss of a Spouse By Malcolm Horn, CFP®

Retirement and Investment Services

Losing a spouse is a stressful transition. And the added pressure of having to settle the estate and organize finances can be overwhelming. In this difficult time, it can help to start with a checklist of just who should be notified, to help secure the financial future of you and your family.

Financial Consultant and/or Estate Attorney ~ If your spouse had a will (or even absent a will), it's important to discuss your immediate options with your family financial advisor or attorney regarding the estate.

Insurance Agent or Company ~ One of the first matters to resolve is how the death benefit of your spouse's life insurance policy, if any, will be paid out. Life insurance benefits are not paid automatically, so you'll need to contact your insurance agent or company to file a claim and to find out what your payout options are. Take time to carefully evaluate these options.

Plan Administrator for IRAs, 401(k), etc. ~ The same is true for any retirement plan in which your spouse participated. If he or she was part of a profit-sharing plan, 401(k) plan, Keogh plan (for self-employed workers), or some other plan, you must consider how the benefits will be distributed to you. The most advantageous strategy with an IRA or 401(k) is to roll over the account into a new account in your own name. This keeps the funds tax sheltered until you retire and begin withdrawals. Contact the plan administrator.

Social Security Administration ~ You may be eligible to receive Social Security survivor's benefits for yourself or your children. If you qualify, six months of retroactive benefits are available. However, you must file within a specified time period. You may also be entitled to the $255 lump-sum death benefit. Contact the Social Security Administration at (800) 772-1213 or at www.ssa.gov.

The Department of Veterans Affairs ~ If your spouse ever served in the military or in some other form of government employment, you and your children may qualify for a separate survivor's benefit. The Department of Veterans Affairs, formerly known as the Veterans Administration, may even provide educational assistance, home loans, federal job preference, or other assistance.

Federal Employees Retirement System ~ If you are the widow or widower of a former federal, state, or local government worker, contact the Federal Employees Retirement System (FERS) or the local organization that coordinates benefits for state, county, or municipal employees.

During this difficult time, you'll also want to stay in close touch with friends and family members and accept their support and assistance. Books, websites, and local support groups are available to help you cope with your recent widow(er)hood. After you have settled your spouse's affairs, you will need to update your plans, to include a new will, estate executor, power of attorney, living will, and other documents pertaining to your situation.

We are here for you in this difficult time. We hope you will reach out to us for assistance if needed: aris.alliantcreditunion.com.

United Set to Hire More Special Olympics Athletes As Customer Service Ambassadors July 18, 2025

United announced today that it will expand the industry's only Special Olympics Service Ambassador (SOSA) program to the airline's hubs in Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Newark. The goal is to welcome 10 more people into the program and reach a total of 28 SOSA employees across all seven of its U.S. hubs, furthering its effort to create employment opportunities for people with physical and intellectual disabilities.

Former San Francisco 49er and all-time receiving touchdowns leader Jerry Rice was on-hand at United's San Francisco hub today to help recruit, undergo a "boot camp" by some of United's existing SOSAs and get a firsthand look at their responsibilities.

"I've been fortunate to be part of lots of winning teams and world-class organizations, and it's a real honor to be part of a program like this that proves greatness comes from giving everyone a shot," said Jerry Rice. "What I saw today being trained by these SOSAs was dedication, skill, and heart, and that's what makes a team unstoppable."

United's SOSA program gives Special Olympics athletes the opportunity to earn part-time employment with full employee benefits. United SOSAs welcome customers in the airport lobby and help them find check-in kiosks, bag check locations, and security lines. Post-security responsibilities include navigating the terminal and using digital customer service tools.

"Our Special Olympics Service Ambassadors deliver a daily dose of inspiration and an extra set of helping hands to our employees while also providing friendly, timely service to our customers," said United Chief Operations Officer and Special Olympics board member Toby Enqvist. "I'm so proud of our SOSA team and look forward to growing at three more of our hubs – they not only enhance the customer experience in a uniquely United way, but also help to foster inclusive, dynamic, and engaging workplaces for all."

"The continued expansion of United's Special Olympics Service Ambassador program is a powerful example of what true inclusion looks like in action," said Zehra Sayin, Chief Communications, Development and Marketing Officer of Special Olympics. "By creating meaningful, visible roles for our athletes, United is not only enhancing the travel experience for its customers but also helping to shift perceptions about the capabilities of people with intellectual disabilities. We are proud to partner with United as they lead the way in showing how diversity and inclusion can strengthen workplaces, communities, and lives."

United first launched the SOSA program in Chicago during National Disability Employment Awareness Month in 2019 and quickly expanded to its hubs in Houston, Denver, and Washington DC.

Since its inception, the Special Olympics Service Ambassadors program has given Special Olympics athletes the opportunity to gain firsthand experience working as part-time employees for United Airlines.

“As an athlete, I lean on skills like teamwork and communication to excel in my sport and being able to share those experiences and skills with United customers is really fulfilling,” said Lauren Miller, a current United SOSA in Chicago. “It’s exciting to know that more people are going to be able to experience this great program for themselves and get the chance to impact passengers on a daily basis.”

United’s Storied History with Special Olympics ~ United has a longstanding partnership with Special Olympics that includes a wide range of sponsorship and event activations including plane pull competitions, localized volunteering, support of the Capitol Hill Day in Washington D.C. and the Global Athlete Congress at the Special Olympics World Games.

As sponsors of the 2025 Capitol Hill Day, United supported Special Olympics delegates championing inclusion and critical funding. Special Olympics athletes led more than 330 face-to-face meetings with Members of Congress in both the House and Senate, inviting their elected officials to partner with them to support inclusive education and health initiatives for people with intellectual disabilities. The event brought together more than 275 participants from 50 programs across the country.

In 2025, United’s Chief Operations Officer, Toby Enqvist was appointed to the Board of Directors for Special Olympics International. His leadership adds momentum to the airline’s shared commitment to inclusion in the workplace and empowering individuals with intellectual disabilities on a global level.

United customers can also support Special Olympics through United’s Miles on a Mission program. To learn more, visit united.com/donate where you can donate miles and become a MileagePlus® Member for free.

Accessibility Initiatives at United ~ United Airlines’ implementation of the SOSA program is just one of the many ways the airline has dedicated itself to fostering welcoming and inspiring environments for everyone, both travelers and employees alike.

For over eight years, United has been a Best Place to Work for Disability Inclusion and has worked to improve accessibility through measures including:

- The industry’s first digital sizing tool for wheelchairs and reimbursing the difference in fares if a customer needs to pay more for a flight that can accommodate their wheelchair.
- The first U.S. airline to add Braille to aircraft interiors to help millions of travelers with visual disabilities more easily navigate the cabin independently.

Launching a new collaboration last year with United Spinal Association where the organization will help support and advise the airline in its efforts to improve accessibility throughout the entire travel experience.

- ▲ The United mobile app makes it easier for people with visual disabilities to use by offering increased color contrast, more space between graphics and an enhanced display and announcement of information to better integrate with the screen reader technologies like VoiceOver and TalkBack.
- ▲ United’s Inflight Seatback Entertainment screens offer a wide range of accessible features like closed captioning, text-to-speech controls, magnification, explore-by-touch capabilities, audio-described movies, and adjustable and high-contrast text and color correction.
- ▲ United offers day-of travel support for the visually and hearing impaired with Agent on Demand where a customer can use audio, video and chat to get assistance by a United Customer Service Representative.

United Airlines Reports Second-Quarter Profit, Sees Third-Quarter Positive Inflection in Both Supply and Demand July 16, 2025

United Airlines (UAL) today reported a second-quarter profit, ahead of Wall Street expectations, and grew both earnings and pre-tax margin in the first half of 2025 versus the first half of 2024.

The company had second-quarter pre-tax earnings of $1.2 billion, with a pre-tax margin of 8.2%; and adjusted pre-tax earnings of $1.7 billion, with an adjusted pre-tax margin of 11.0%. The company also achieved diluted earnings per share of $2.97 and adjusted diluted earnings per share of $3.87, compared to guidance of $3.25 to $4.25. Total operating revenue grew 1.7% compared to the year-ago period to $15.2 billion.

Beginning in early July, United has seen a sequential 6 point acceleration in demand and a double-digit acceleration in business demand versus the second quarter. The airline attributes this to less geopolitical and macroeconomic uncertainty and has updated its full-year adjusted diluted earnings per share guidance to $9.00 to $11.00, underscoring the resilience of United's brand-loyal, revenue-diverse business model.

United's diverse sources of revenue contributed to its second-quarter results: Premium cabin revenue rose 5.6% year-over-year; revenue from Basic Economy rose 1.7% year-over-year; cargo revenue rose 3.8% year-over-year and loyalty revenue rose 8.7% year-over-year.

United's operational performance during the second quarter continued to lay a foundation for its overall success. Its consolidated on-time departures (D:00) were highest and seat cancellation rates were the airline's lowest for a second quarter since the pandemic, and hubs in Newark, Los Angeles, and San Francisco all achieved their best on-time departure for a second quarter since the pandemic. In June, United posted a better on-time arrival rate at Newark Liberty International Airport (EWR) than all other major airlines at LaGuardia International Airport (LGA) and John F. Kennedy International Airport (JFK).

"Our second-quarter performance was more proof that the United Next strategy is working. I am extremely proud of the team for executing a strong operation and navigating through a volatile macroeconomic period, while still growing earnings and pre-tax margin for the first half of the year," said United CEO Scott Kirby. "Importantly, United saw a positive shift in demand beginning in early July, and, like 2024, anticipates another inflection in industry supply in mid-August. The world is less uncertain today than it was during the first six months of 2025 and that gives us confidence about a strong finish to the year."

United's proactive schedule adjustments and close coordination with the FAA and the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey have restored Newark to its leading place in our operation, and customer demand there has returned to its historic range. The airline looks forward to resuming Tel Aviv service on July 21.

As part of the airline's broader strategy to pay down high-cost debt and strengthen its balance sheet, in July United repaid, solely using cash on hand, the remaining debt from a July 2020 transaction when it secured financing of $6.8 billion against its MileagePlus assets. This now leaves one of the most valuable loyalty programs in the world unencumbered. At the end of the second quarter, United's trailing twelve months net leverage was 2.0x. The company remains focused on further strengthening its balance sheet and growing margins.

The Northstaters went on a wonderful adventure for our July meeting. The weather was a perfect 89 degrees and for Redding in July, that was amazing.

Fifteen of our members, spouses and guests went to the Turtle Bay Exploration Park in Redding. Once in the museum, we went to the Walk On The Wild Side Animal Show which was held outside in a beautiful setting. It was a wonderful display of small animals and birds, tricks and also very educational. We watched how an owl could fly inches from your head and saw a porcupine up close and personal. We saw a raccoon use its tail to balance and climb. Birds flew right in front of us and no one in the audience could stand up for the entire show so as not to distract the animals. It was truly a great show to see.

After the show, we proceeded to Jeffs California Cattle Company in Redding for a delightful lunch. We did not have a meeting but were able to socialize with our fellow members and spouses. A nice time was had by all.

I received an email from David W. Del Testa. He wanted to know if anyone who worked at the SFO Maintenance Base might have memories to share of his late father, Guido James Del Testa. Sometimes he went by the name of Buddy or James. He worked as a mechanic from May, 1960 until his death in October, 1972. He came to United from the Army and Southern Pacific Railroads. He started as a mechanic and ended up his career as a foreman machinist. He was quite sick at times at the end of his career from 1968 onwards.

If anyone knows of this person and has any memories or anything to share, please contact me and I will pass the info on to David. He lives in Pennsylvania and I have his e-mail and phone contact.

Merritt & Klaren Odor wanted to talk about our next get-together in September. We usually have a picnic and will be looking at couple of places near DeGamo Park in Chico. The date will be Wednesday, September 17th, at 11:30 AM. Sharon Simonton volunteered to contact Chico Recreation Department for any sites that we could reserve.

Calendar:

September 17 - Wednesday, 11:30AM for a picnic. Place to be determined.

EAST BAY DIABLOS

Contra Costa County
Jan Soderstrom
30 San Piedras Place
San Ramon, CA 94583
(925) 833-9184

Happy September and Labor Day to everyone from the East Bay Diablos group! As I write this on August 7, it's another beautiful summer day, comfortable with a high of 85. Below normal temperatures have continued for another month, much to everyone's amazement, with only a handful of days approaching 90. We have three days of 90 and above coming up, but then it's back to moderate temps in the low 80's for the next 10 days. I'll take it! We are hoping the weather gods will not make up for lost time and send us a massive heat wave of many days over 100 degrees.

Our group holds in person monthly meetings on the first Monday of the month all year long. The restaurants are still dealing with staff shortages, so we have to give them a count beforehand. If you are going to attend our meetings, you must RSVP prior to the meeting. I have put the dates of our upcoming meetings and the RSVP deadlines below. We alternate between the Old Spaghetti Factory in Concord and the Lazy Dog Restaurant in Concord. We like the Old Spaghetti Factory because they have both a regular and a senior menu with reduced portions and soup or salad, ice cream and beverage included. They also reserve a room for us. We went to the Lazy Dog for the first time last September. Everyone enjoyed it so that is now our other "go to" restaurant. We average about 14 people at our meetings throughout the year, but more members come to our summer picnic meeting which is at a member's home. Social hour starts at 11:30 and our meal is typically served around 12:15.

Our August meeting was held on August 4 at the Lazy Dog Restaurant in Concord with 13 members in attendance: Tracey Blanchard, Rich & Georgia Bouska and guest Carla, Nancy Boyle, Diane Griego, Tom Johnson, Russ Kennedy, Joe & Wilma Leather, Russell Schleske, Jan Soderstrom and Sue Von Emster. It was great to see Russ Schleske, who missed our July meeting because he was traveling. We missed Carol

Parks who was not feeling well; and Barb Cunningham, who took a nasty fall and has bruised ribs. We hope both ladies will soon be feeling better. Falls really are a big threat and we need to do everything we can to avoid them. Watch every step you take even when on familiar ground. It may seem like you are “babying” yourself, but you are not. You are protecting yourself from a nasty fall, serious injury, and even broken bones.

What a wonderful meeting we had on August 4! As luck would have it, it was Joe Leather’s 93rd birthday! We passed around a card and everyone signed it. After we ate our meal, we gave Joe the card and sang Happy Birthday. Wilma Leather brought dessert—mini cupcakes plus a bag of shortbread for us to take home. The cupcakes were so delicious and the frosting melted in your mouth. I asked Wilma if the cupcake were made from a mix or from scratch. As I suspected, she loves to bake and they were made from scratch! When was the last time you had cake made from scratch? Or baked one? I can’t even remember when! My mom made cakes for all our birthdays and my favorite was her Happy Day Cake recipe. It has been years since I made a cake from scratch, but Wilma has inspired me to do it. I got a new mixer a while back and have yet to use it. Maybe I will “christen” it mixing up cake batter and frosting.

At every meeting we have a raffle for money and door prizes. We pay two dollars for three tickets. Rich Bouska won the money. The door prizes are whatever people are inspired to bring. This month we had the usual wine collection, a vanilla candle, and a chocolate chocolate chip cake donated by Sue von Emster. Yep, two chocolates is not a typo. I won the cake in the raffle and it was delicious; dense chocolate cake with chocolate chips. Thank you Sue for such a yummy treat!

Barbara Cunningham collects both new and used Christmas cards. She donates them to a local special education teacher who uses them in his classroom. He has told Barbara he can use “all the cards he can get.” The students make gift cards which they sell at the school fundraiser. This teacher needs just the cards, no envelopes. The money they raise is for special outings like field trips and other enrichment activities for the special needs students. Barb met the lady who helps cut up the cards for the students to use, as they are not allowed to have scissors for safety reasons. Barb has seen some of the gift cards and they really are pretty. If you have cards you’d like to donate, please hold on to them for now as she cannot deliver cards again until school opens in the fall. I’ll let you know when you can resume mailing cards to her.

Jan Soderstrom is collecting coupons for the charity Support our Troops. This is a service project of her Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) chapter. I would like to renew my request to have you cut out coupons and mail them to me at 30 San Piedras Place, San Ramon, CA 94583-3018. One thing we can all agree on is that the cost of groceries has skyrocketed in the last year or so. Unfortunately, manufacturers are cutting back on the coupons they are issuing, especially on food items, just when people need help the most. So anything we can send to the troops is greatly appreciated—food, nonfood, baby and pet; and both current and expired. This is such an easy thing to do to support our troops. For the price of a first class stamp, you can get about 90 coupons in an envelope. The coupons have to say Manufacturer’s Coupon. If they come in a strip, please cut them into separate coupons. The collected coupons are then distributed to overseas military personnel for use in their commissaries. The commissaries honor them for six months after the published expiration date so expired coupons can be sent too. However, please send me coupons at least every other month so the troops have a longer time to use them. Please help me spread the word about this worthwhile project. The number of coupons in the newspapers has dropped dramatically so the only way we can maintain our level of support is if more people send me coupons. Ask your friends and neighbors, and the people at your RUAEA meetings, to send me coupons as well.

I am so grateful for the kindness of all the RUAEA members who are helping me with this project. I have been turning in coupons every month since May 2022. On July 26, I turned in 165 coupons. Luckily, I am getting more coupons now and will have more to turn in at our first fall meeting on September 6. Thank you so much to the members in my local RUAEA chapter and to members from all over the country who are sending coupons. If it weren’t for the RUAEA folks sending me coupons, my chapter would have very few coupons. This month I received coupons from Rosalie Betschart in OR, Tracey Blanchard in CA, Marilyn Carle in IL, Ginger Dahlberg in CA, Francis Domaratius in CA, Margie Klaus in NV, Carol Koslosky in NY, Beverly McAlister in CA, Georgia Rutkowski in NV, and Jim Taylor in FL. Also, some coupons arrived anonymously at my place at our August 4 meeting. Thanks to whoever brought them.

“Dumpster Diving.” Have you heard this term before? The Coupon Chair in my DAR chapter does this. She goes to her post office occasionally and goes through the wastebasket where people toss out their junk mail as they go through their mail. She pulls out the flyers with coupons and takes them home. Carol Koslosky’s granddaughter Samantha is an incredible Dumpster Diver! She goes through the trash in her apartment complex mailroom and pulls out the coupon flyers other people throw away. This month she sent me six bulging envelopes of coupons which contributed greatly to the final count. So, for those of you who live in apartments or assisted living facilities, please consider rescuing abandoned coupons from your mailrooms. You may only get a handful of coupons in your own mail, but you can get many times that in your mailroom.

Our meetings are the first Monday of the month and we meet all 12 months of the year. Upcoming Meetings: Please join us!

HANGTOWN MINERS

Jane Gibson
Placerville, CA
Secretary

Greetings to each and every one of you! So, are you enjoying this extraordinary July? We have had sweaters/sweatshirts on here! Now, I'm not exactly complaining since sleeping has been delightful, but our tomatoes really need some heat so they can/will ripen! All our veggies are behind – no wait, we have had some zucchinis. I know, I know, don't jinx it, Jane! I'm guessing that our next 2-3 months are going to really “cookin”.

The weather was very delightful on July 9th when we all gathered at Lucille's Barbecue and Grill in Rocklin. This was the first time I, personally, had been to this establishment, but I have heard plenty of praise for their meals; I can say that I was not disappointed. Our servers were great, plenty of room for our group of 26, and the food was good and hot (when it was supposed to be hot!).

After we all dined, and our monthly meeting began, Rudy Blazius, our esteemed leader, gave Chuck & Peggy Trebnik a big “Thank You” for arranging this lunch. Oh, I believe that I heard that we, Hangtown Miners, will be given a “rebate”. Several years ago, Tom Kenny plodded thru all the paperwork to get our group the classification of a non-profit group getting the designation of 501c7. This allows us to ask if a restaurant does fundraisers and if we could do that too. BJ's also will sponsor fundraisers – if you have this designation, ask about it.

Moving along, we had a guest, Carrie Nishimoto. Carrie began working at UAL in 1966! and the best part is that Carrie decided to join our group. So, a hearty “Welcome” to her! Our only member present who has a birthday in July is Rosemary Heier. If you too celebrate in July, we say “Happy Birthday” to you too. Even though they weren't at the luncheon, we still send a “Happy Anniversary” to Geoff & Louise Ridsdale – 48 years!

President ~ Rudy didn't have a report for us this month – however, he always has things that “come up/out” during the discussions.

Vice President ~ Our very own, JR Heier, didn't have a “report” to share, but, he did want to give us some words of wisdom. It revolves around the challenges we all are experiencing as we have these wonderful birthdays to celebrate – aka, getting older! None of us “wants” to have a health situation crop up, but it's bound to happen – do not ignore any change you notice. Address those changes right away. Prompt attention can be the difference between a “small” and a “big” problem. Our eyes are so susceptible to age related changes; you mustn't ignore getting care. If you should need it, JR knows a good place in Folsom where they do an MRI of the eyeball and it will show if and/or where you may have a problem. If you get “freckles” - spots – you need to have the problem attended to right away.

Secretary ~ Jane Gibson extended to Suzanne Kenny a very big “Thank You” for covering for her in June. As always, Suzie, you did a great job with taking notes, putting them together and getting them to me to send to you! She did note that it can be a challenge to hear all that is said/shared, as our wonderful group of friends really enjoys chatting with each other! As one of three organizers of the UAL Retired Mechanics Reunion, I spoke for my co-workers (Rosemary Heier and Sue Hohl) regarding the upcoming September get-together. We have about 50 people who I have heard from who plan to attend. We are asking for pop-ups and tables. I have sent out another reminder and plan to send a last one in August. If you're interested in joining in on the fun, let me know, tired-dogs@comcast.net; (925) 443-0905.

Treasurer ~ Tom Kenny shared that our bank account is feeling "on target" for this time of the year. This amount does not include today's raffle money, or the rebate from BJ's. Tom can give you a copy of our 501c7 designation that you can take with you when you're scheduling a luncheon. It doesn't hurt to ask if they can do a fundraiser. Most restaurants may need to have the confirmation info to send to their corporate offices. We still have our tool collection. It's slow for the moment, but we do have some more, potentially, to donate. You know, we can use tool boxes too!

Sunshine ~ Suzanne Kenny didn't have a report – which means you all are doing great – right!? However, we did learn that day that Kerry Kozelka wound up in the hospital the day after our June luncheon. He is doing fine now – thank goodness! Folks, if you have something going on, I know that the last thing you have on your mind is "Call Suzanne" - but, once things have calmed down, please give her a buzz so she can keep on track of all of us!

Old Business ~ Nothing to cover here.

New Business ~ While we didn't have anything in this section either, we do have a special member, Ann Marie Sutherland, who stays very busy helping our active soldiers and veterans. She is president of the American Legions Auxiliary so she is constantly on the go. She wanted to thank us for our generous contribution of $78.00 which was collected last month. Today, she brought Christmas cards for us to fill out and they will be sent to our active military. May seem like this is a bit early for this, but boxes are always being assembled and it can take a while for our military to get them. Ann Marie also wanted to remind all of us that the Placerville American Legion was having a barbecue on Friday – and there will be a live band as well. If you are in the area, just kicking back with nothing to do – go, go and have a good time.

There were no other contributions. So, Rudy got some chuckles (and groans) with these:

- ☺ Do you ever wake up, kiss the person sleeping beside you and feel glad that you are alive? I just did and apparently will not be allowed on this airline again ...
- ☺ Exchange of Text Messages: Husband: You are negative; Wife: And you are stubborn, arrogant, a low life, care about no one but yourself and your friends. All you are interested in is your own self, all your life not fulfilled even one of your promises. It is only I who is putting up with such a miser and insensitive man. You good for nothing, fat, ugly man. Even your hair transplant failed. Husband: I was just informing you that your Covid test is negative. Wife: Oh. ... sorry!
- ☺ Tonight I'm gonna have possum soup made from Himalayan Possum because I found himalayan on the road.
- ☺ I changed my password to "incorrect". So, whenever I forget what it is, the computer will say "Your password is incorrect".
- ☺ The richest wealth is Wisdom. The strongest weapon is Patience. The best security is Faith. The greatest tonic is Laughter. And, surprisingly all are free.

That was a fun end to our meeting, now on to our raffle! JR had the ticket for the Donator's Prize and guess what – Rosemary had the right number! Thank you to everyone who brought an item to be raffled: Guinn – potholders, towel; Heier – potpourri in a container; Trebnik – Citronella bucket and candle as well as the table decorations; Kozelka – white wine; Blazius – wine; Dinette – measuring cup; Gibson – brownie mix; Kenney – wine with holder; Nielsen – champagne; Kenny – wine.

Are you ready for a different cuisine? Bill & Pati Kenney are hosting next month at the Lotus 8 in Folsom. Don't forget to let them know that you will be coming!

As we approach yet another month, please, take care of yourselves. I know we are doing our best to stay active, to keep busy, to eat well, to have fun, and that's wonderful, but, time can creep up on us. We need to look out for one another too. If you haven't spoken to a friend or a family member recently, pick up the phone and just check in with them. We tend to put off those little things, but life can throw a curve ball and we need to be sure that our team is ready to cover for us. Touch base. Your smile will lift your heart.

Summer is going by and everyone is trying to stay warm and cool. So far, we haven't had the heat and the bad fires which are causing turmoil upstate and we hope they don't make it this far south.

Louis Semon sends his best to everyone and says he will be thinking of us as he is enjoying his Safari in South Africa.

We have one September Birthday; Shakira Zamani will be celebrating on September 15.

Do you know why geese fly in a V formation? As the bird flaps its wings in flight, air swirls around its wingtips, creating upward lift at the same time air moving off the bottom pushes downward. If you have noticed birds flying in the V formation, you will notice each goose is slightly behind and above the bird ahead of it. This goose rides the extra lift provided by the bird it is following. This conserves energy that is required to flap its wings and enables it to fly farther.

Flying in the V formation allows the geese to maintain visual contact with each other and this helps keep the group intact and flying as a single unit.

Military aircraft have patterned their flying formations in the same manner. Researchers have studied the pros and cons of conserving fuel by reducing drag on the airplane as compared to the adverse effects of flying directly in another aircraft's wake.

I have too many hidden talents ... I wish I could remember where I hid them!

Sidnee McKinney and her son, Brian McKinney were in attendance to speak about Jack McKinney's passing a year ago.

President Al opened the meeting after everyone had eaten with the Pledge of Allegiance. We welcomed 2 retirees from our old MCO ranks; Sue Nash, who just retired on August 1, 2025! She is certainly figuring out the “no more work ... I’m retired” routine right away! And Paul Crotty from our old MM group, who had been keeping a low profile, but might just enjoy our monthly get togethers and join our lively group!

Sadly, we lost a very dear member, Cathy Llewellyn on July 7, 2025. Former president, Rich Llewellyn, and Cathy moved from MCO back to CLE about 4 years ago. Cathy had a stroke, slipped into a coma and passed away with Rich at her side. Many may remember this loving couple from the 2010 RUAEA Convention held here in Orlando. A Celebration of Life will be held in Ohio on August 16th and the Real McCoys have sent our donation to “Ride to End Alzheimer’s”. Rich’s address is 17289 Station Road, Columbia Station, OH 44028

Our annual fall picnic will be held on November 4th at Cypress Grove Park, beginning at 1100 with burgers and dogs ready to eat at 1200 sharp! We always draw a big crowd, so mark your calendar and plan to join us at 290 Holden Avenue, Orlando 32839. You’ll be glad you did ☺

I always say, “Please continue praying for all of us that need it” - then I realized that that’s all of us! So, prayers for all who are ill and hurting and sad, and everyone else too.

Join us for our next meeting/luncheon on September 2nd at Denny’s on So. Semoran Blvd. in our private room at noon-ish! Pretty lively group if I do say so myself.

September—‘Oh, it’s a long, long while from May to September, but the days grow short, when you reach September. When the autumn weather turns the leaves to flame, one hasn’t got time for the waiting game. Oh, the days dwindle down to a precious few, September, November. And these few precious days, I’ll spend with you, these precious days, I’ll spend with you.’ For those of you whom have been following my column for the last 10 years or more, I like to start this month’s column with this song. The words are so meaningful. As I get older, I read something else into the words. We learn something new every day, even at our tender ages. It’s like we realize something new every minute. So much happens in a year, here we are, and still around, but are our friends and family? Have we survived them? Are we still with them, enjoying our lives together, or in some cases, are we still speaking to each other? It’s sad, but it does happen. Do we have time to rectify that? I hope so, we need them at our funeral, to smile and say goodbye. Mine is pre-planned, how about you? Can’t leave that task up to your relatives that don’t know what you want. God forbid they put you in clothes that don’t match, or forget your favorite teddy bear or baseball that you caught at your teams’ game. I need my cat’s ashes and my sparkly shoes.

The gem for September is the sapphire, which is normally blue but comes in other colors. It’s associated with royalty, wisdom and fidelity. The flowers are the aster and morning glory. The aster looks a lot like the daisy with a yellow center and a variety of color petals. They symbolize love and patience. The morning glory are known for their trumpet-shaped flowers that come in various colors. They symbolize love, affection and the fleeting nature of life. They open in the morning and are closed by afternoon; fleeting.

The moon in September is called the Corn or Harvest Moon, for obvious reasons, and will be full on the 7th and 8th, right around sunset. An extra special feature is that it’s a Lunar Eclipse, right after sunset on the 7th, should be a beautiful sight. Get your lawn chair ready, and pray for a clear sky. On September 10th, the moon’s diameter will be larger because the moon’s shadow is smaller.

The Northside breakfast had six retirees, Deb Jaret, Charlie Lewis, Dave Dunham, Jerry Tipperreiter, Dona Nefczyk, and Ginny Vlach. Talk was about the summer, the weather, and small trips that we’ve taken, or want to.

Our ORD Maintenance mechanics met at Maxfields, Jim Kraft, Frank Wenig, Boris Spitz, Don Kramlich, Fred Seibert, Ron Geibel, Rich Protsman, and Dean Hackenberg.

The ORD Foremen had only four people, Tom Abraham, Glenn Hill, and Sue & Bart Kendall. We were expecting Linda & Dick Kolloff from Florida, but they had a family issue that kept them away; next visit.

The IAM 1487 Retirees had a BBQ lunch in July. About 90 members came for a delicious lunch with hamburgers, hot dogs, pulled pork and BBQ pork. It was a Hawaiian themed afternoon with lots of leis, palms and other Hawaiian decorations. The Union Hall looked just like Honolulu. Well, kind of. They even had six new members. Everyone had a great time. Next month's lunch will be Thursday, September 4, members will bring their own lunch, union will supply the extras. Don't miss it!

The RUPA pilot's lunch was held at Nick's Pizza in Crystal Lake. There were 49 attendees enjoying pizza and other delicacies that they specialize in. New retirees Tom Broderick, his wife, Stacy, and newly weds, Ole & Kirsten Sindberg were there. Also Paul van den Heuvel, and Jim Hall from SFOLM came in. Other guests were Ken & Robin Wentworth, Herb & Faruza Hunter, he's the voice of Chicago's Air and Water show that was held on August 16-17. Mike Hepparin and his son, H.M. Hepparin, from Southwest, joined them since he'll be retiring very soon. See, people can't wait to join the RUPA Club. Bob Hilfferich announced there's a new RUPA lunch group in Mukwonago, WI. Their next meeting is October 14, if anybody would like to join them.

The Skyliner's December 9 luncheon is coming along. Invitations will be going out in October. Just thought I'd send a reminder that it's almost here and to keep the date open. I don't have the price or the menu available right now, but I do have the entertainment! You're going to love that. It's Wayne Messmer, yes, that Wayne! How about that? He sings the National Anthem for the Cubs, and the Wolves hockey team. He has also sung for the White Sox, Blackhawks, Bears and the Sting. I'm very proud that we were able to have him sing for our little club. We'll have a great afternoon. He'll have some good stories and fabulous songs to sing. Be sure to come and enjoy the delicious food and entertainment at the Belvedere Restaurant.

In the last few weeks, there have been a lot of airline problems, accidents, fires, canceled trips, all kinds of troubling news on all airlines. But recently, United made the news cycle when we canceled our domestic flights for most of the day on August 6. Anybody who worked at ORD, or any airport, knows what a mess that probably caused. One newspaper said it was due to a 'computer glitch', and listed Unimatic.

I know I've been gone awhile, but I thought Unimatic had nothing to do with Reservations. That was Apollo, until Continental took over, then they put in their res system, which I don't remember their name. Our Apollo was a better system but CO insisted. It messed up our reservations for months. Do you remember that? Please say, yes! I guess it just bothered me that they would blame a computer system that doesn't exist any more. Wonder who wrote that story that would remember our little Unimatic, a system that was wonderful, many departments used that.

Gone from our United family last month, all from ORD Ramp, Stephanie Craig, Sheldon Holden and Emanuel Juedy. Also gone from our world, actors, Loni Anderson (WKRP), Eileen Fulton (As the Word Turns), Jimmy Hunt (Cheaper by the Dozen), Malcolm-Jamal Warner (Cosby Show), Doug Roberts (Hairspray), sports figures, Hulk Hogan, wrestler, Lee Elia, Sox and Cubs manager, Ryne Sandberg, beloved Cubs all-star, singers, Connie Francis (Everybody's Somebody's Fool), Ozzy Osbourne (Black Sabbath and wild personality), Jane Morgan (Fascination), Cleo Laine (On the Town), Tim Lehrer, satirist and singer, David Gergen, political advisor, composers, Alan Bergman (The Way we Were), Chuck Mangione, flugelhornist, (Feels so Good).

I think you all know that I'm a big Cubs fan. Sadness hit all of us when Ryne Sandberg passed away July 28, at the young age of 65, a baby to most of us. In January of 2024, he discovered that he had metastatic prostate cancer, did treatments for many months, until he announced he was cancer free in August of that year. However, in December of 2024, he found that the cancer had returned and spread to other organs. He continued to receive treatments and remained optimistic about his prognosis. He received a statue in front of Wrigley Field on the 40th anniversary of the iconic 1984 'Sandberg Game'. Maybe you remember that game against the Cardinals. The Cubs were losing 7-1 earlier in the game. Ryne had five runs, drove in seven runs and launched a pair of game-tying home runs in the 9th and 10th innings. They ultimately won the game 12-11. What a joyous day. He was a legend and an icon in the world of baseball across the country, not just Chicago. What a career he had, what a man and so generously giving to children and the less fortunate through his charitable foundations. I used to write nice things about him on one of the Cubs Facebook accounts. He actually wrote back to me often. At first, I thought it was a scam, but found out it was really him. Any profits he made on his shirts and other merchandise went to his charities, for cancer research, children's causes, Cubs charities and other health researches. He and his kindness will definitely be missed. Sympathy to his family. And Go Cubbies!

Marguerite Venn will be hosting a retiree luncheon on Wednesday, August 13, 2025 at 1PM at Annie's Restaurant. The restaurant is located at 33427 Plymouth Rd. in Livonia, MI.

DTWRR retired supervisor Cathy Dewey passed away on July 11, 2025. She had recently moved back to Michigan from Florida. It was nice to see several of her colleagues at her memorial.

It was just a gathering of some old UA friends, but it was special. Eight of us met at the Coaches Corner in Livonia, MI to renew old friendships. Attending were Maggie & Tim O'Connell, Pam & Tom Shamey, Brendan Heaney and Shannon Anderson, husband and daughter of the late Marlene Heaney, Patty Gates and Gwen Dyc. We shared stories and laughs and had a great time reminiscing.

Your United friends were asking about you. What's new? What is going on in your life?

Thought for the month: "Happiness is not about getting what you want all the time. It's about loving what you have and being grateful for it."

30 people showed up for our luncheon in July. It was great to see Harold Miller who picked up Shirley Walker on his trek from the coast. Women in attendance with July birthdays were Karen Pfeifer, Louise Robillard, and Rosalie Betschart. Mel & Barbara Martin celebrated their 67th wedding anniversary on July 21. Louise won the birthday free lunch and Len Blodgett won the door prize free lunch. Harold Miller won the 50/50.

It is with a heavy heart that I let you know that Jeri Blodgett lost her valiant fight after her brain bleed, and the resulting surgeries, on July 17th. As of this writing, the Celebration of Life has yet to be scheduled.

Lois Gruenberg (spouse of Carl Gruenberg - also deceased) passed away July 20th, at home surrounded by family. She was 86 years old. The family will have a service in Michigan.

And now for a little humor, with some philosophy thrown in occasionally, to make your day pass with a little more fun!

- ☺ A man was driving down the freeway in his Corvette going 80 MPH when he saw flashing red lights from a state trooper in his rearview mirror. Without thinking about it, he floored it and took off at 100 MPH. When he finally pulled over, he said, "Officer, I'm so sorry. I don't know what I was thinking." The state trooper said, "Listen, it's Friday at 4PM and my shift is over in 30 minutes. If you give me a good reason why you were speeding that I've never heard before, I'll let you go." The driver thought about it for a few minutes and said, "Officer, years ago my wife ran off with a state trooper. I thought you were bringing her back!" The officer said, "Have a great weekend."

- ☺ I'm done drinking coffee for good. Today I started drinking coffee for evil.
 - ☺ Wife: "It's funny, on the inside I feel one way, but when I look in the mirror, I feel different than how I look on the outside. Know what I mean?" Spouse: "Huh? Sorry ... on the outside I look like I was listening, but on the inside, I was thinking about corn dogs."
 - ☺ During a visit to the mental asylum, I asked the director "how do you determine whether or not a patient should be institutionalized?" "Well," said the director, "we fill up a bathtub, then we offer a teaspoon, a teacup and a bucket to the patient and ask him or her to empty the bathtub." "Oh, I understand," I said, "A normal person would use the bucket because it is bigger than the spoon or the teacup." "No," said the director. "A normal person would pull the plug. Do you want the bed near the window?"
 - ☺ Did you know that 10+10 and 11+11 are the same thing? Because 10+10 is twenty and 11+11 is twenty too. (groan)
 - ☺ Mind: I gotta do this thing. Body: You did something yesterday; that's enough things.
 - ☺ Morning forecast: Slightly exhausted with 100% chance of needing coffee. Scattered sarcastic comments through the afternoon.
 - ☺ My friend told me that she wouldn't eat beef tongue because it came out of a cow's mouth ... so I gave her an egg.
 - ☺ I've talked the talk and walked the walk. Now at this age, I'm just going to sit the sit.
 - ☺ I may appear nonchalant, but I assure you that I am chalaning about a lot of things, actually.
 - ☺ I got fired from my job because I kept asking whether they preferred "Smoking" or "Non-smoking". Apparently, the correct terms are "Cremation" and "Burial".
 - ☺ You know you are old when you're entering your birth year online and have the spin that thing like you're on the Price is Right.
 - ☺ I just told my grandkids that I'm way older than Google. They think I'm joking.
 - ☺ Me: "It's not how many times you fall down; it's about how many times you get back up again." Cop: "That's not how field sobriety tests work."
 - ☺ A little boy tells his nursery school teacher that he found a dead cat. "How did you know it was dead?" Asked the teacher. "Because I pissed in its ear and it didn't move." Says the boy. "You did what?" Shrieks the teacher. "You know," explains the boy. "I leaned over and went Pssst in its ear and it didn't move."
 - ☺ I got an email saying "At Google Earth, we can even read maps backwards", and I thought ... "that's just spam ..."
 - ☺ Gas prices are so high that I went to the car dealership and test-drove 3 cars to run my errands. Follow me for more money-saving tips.
 - ☺ I picked up a hitchhiker last night. He asked, "How do you know that I'm not a serial killer?" I replied, "The chances of two serial killers in one car is astronomical."
 - ☺ The fact that somebody looked right at a purple onion and named it "Red Onion" really irritates me!
 - ☺ Sometimes I like to mess with my grandchildren and hide their stuff where they can't find them. Like I put the coats on the coat hooks and their shoes on the shoe rack.
 - ☺ After a fight, the husband was in his man cave throwing darts at his wife's photo, but he missed every time. His wife shouted from upstairs, "What are you doing?" He responded, "Missing you!"
 - ☺ You say introvert. I say state of the art social filtration system that improves the quality and purity of interaction by preemptively reducing contamination.
 - ☺ My husband asked me why I speak so softly. I said I was afraid FB was listening. He laughed, I laughed, Alexa laughed, Siri laughed, the Tesla laughed.
 - ☺ The police sent me a picture of me speeding. So I sent them a picture of a check. They sent me a picture of handcuffs.
- Until next month!

Our annual picnic on July 8 at Kathi Skabo's home in Burien was attended by 22 members and guests; as usual, we had a few no-shows.

In attendance were Chuck & Sharon Cole, Shirley Claggett, Ron Paluch, Hank Gosselin, Jay Holland & guest, Ken Tank, Ben Watson, Maury Irvin, Arnie Chaetzke & wife, Jay Schubert, Rosie Bepener, Ken & Judy Storey, Jim Small, Maryann Anderson and Kathie Torgison.

The Mechanics get-together was on July 10 with 12 people in attendance. As usual, this meeting is scheduled at 8:30 on the 2nd Thursday of each month at Trotter Restaurant in Auburn.

On a sad note, Lloyd Towne passed away in July; he and Ken Storey went way back when they worked at Boeing on the B-52 and the 707.

Here in the Maryland/Virginia Metropolitan area, we greet our September meeting both with great enthusiasm to see our Lounger friends and with a bit of trepidation to say goodbye to the great fun and the freedom of our summer months. The traveling that many of us did will be talked about for years to come. The carefree days will also be put aside to get back to the hustle and bustle (and the joy) of our daily lives.

Several of us went to Greece in July. Kate Connelly flew to Athens and then ventured out to tour Greece by land. She loved it and really got the feel of the entire country as well as some of its marvelous islands. I also flew to Athens (a week later) and spent 4 days in Athens seeing the city and its ancient buildings and shrines. I then took a 7-day cruise visiting the beautiful islands, which each had its own flare. Once we have our September luncheon, I hope to hear all of the great times, in detail, that each of our friends experienced. Time spent in varying places in this country and around the world. Dutch & Carrie Schneider have many tales to share about their travels, but their big news is that they have sold their home of many years in Manassas, VA and will be moving into a great townhouse in nearby Haymarket, VA in a few months.

Several of our members took a very serious and meaningful visit to Shanksville, VA. I have attached a most moving and beautiful essay of that visit:

“Debbie and Terry keep track of their Pittsburgh FBI office and tell of this book. United Airlines hired this former FBI community outreach specialist to support the government, families and the law. She was a “first responder” and spent 12 successive days at the site.

She speaks of her PTSD, and her healing through Faith and writing.

Her name is “Lillie Leonardi” and she was struck by not what she saw, but what she didn’t see ... no bodies, no wreckage ... just silence. In the midst, rising from scorched earth, she wrote of seeing fields of “angels”, wings arched skywards in solemn rows ... rising from scorched earth. She kept it secret for two years as she fathomed that had she mentioned it at the time, some would have thought she lost her mind and asked her to go home. “Haunted”, as I was hearing of the “vaporization” of the crew, reminds us that in places touched by loss, grace sometimes lingers.

May we carry her “grace” with us as we remember.”

No Matter the Size of Our Chapters, Good Works Abound ~ It’s truly inspiring to see the incredible spirit of generosity and community engagement alive and well within our Clipped Wings® Chapters. From coast to coast, no matter the size of our individual chapters, the dedication to “good works” is evident, making a tangible difference in the lives of many.

You might think that only the largest chapters, with their greater numbers, can undertake significant charitable endeavors. But time and again, our smaller chapters prove this notion wrong. What they may lack in sheer membership, they more than make up for in passion, creativity, and a deep commitment to their local communities.

But here’s the beautiful truth: The impact of our good works isn’t measured by the number of volunteers or the size of the donation. It’s measured by the kindness extended, the needs met, and the lives touched. Whether it’s a few dedicated individuals making a regular contribution of their time or a large group raising significant funds, every act of service, every gesture of goodwill, is invaluable.

As I finish up my first year in a two-year term, it's that time of year when all chapters submit their Annual Reports. As I review them, I am in awe of so many wonderful acts of kindness and dedication to fundraising, both for their local philanthropy efforts and our overall national philanthropy, Special Olympic Parent Grants.

Here are just a few of the many charities Clipped Wings® supports across the country: Soldier's Angels, Spina Bifida, Tunnel to Towers, Cause, Mary's By the Sea, Valerie's House, Fostering Success, The Shelter for Abused Women & Children, Friends of Cats, San Diego Food Bank, Acres of Hope, Compassion Planet, and so many more.

None of this work is possible without incredibly creative fundraising—all a labor of love by so many in our organization.

Notes

April King

I'm enjoying retired life, using my travel benefits to visit my family who all live out west. I'm in good health and grateful for all my friends and the advantages available by living in such a great city!

Robert Brown

We continue to enjoy our retired flight privileges and are looking forward to the Retired United Airlines Employees Association Reunion in Denver this year.

John DeGiovanni

I worked in Safety at WHQSY (Willis Tower)

Kenneth Decker

Retired from CO in 2005 after 42 years of service in Kansas City, mostly in Customer Service Ticket Counter, Gate Agent, and Lost and Found. I stay active by managing my rental property, volunteering, gardening, and enjoying 14 grandchildren, some near me, others in other states.

Sharon S. Montague

I like reading the newsletter, see what's going on with the few people I know (including obits).

Robert Fields

I just retired last year and saw this website and would like to join RUAEA.

Inara Witt

Thank you for the news about the company, I always enjoy reading the whole newsletter, especially news from 'home', Chicago! Jan does a wonderful job of writing about the group.

There are not many more people left of my era, except the really young ones, just got to be 92 and it's hitting me like a ton of bricks, but I'm still functioning fairly well. Travel by plane is out if the question, just too difficult standby. My daughter lives on Oahu and has to jump through hoops to get back and forth, like yesterday to Lihue and then Hawaiian home.

Keep up the great work and thank you again!

Arlene A. Taylor

I'm living the good life out in Arizona. I enjoy hearing about and keeping up with fellow retirees.

Camron Pate

I started an Export Business to Guyana and Suriname.

Frederick & Ruth Schnittker

After 47 years of independently owning Land Air Associates, John has finally retired. It has been a most productive life for him all these years with United and owning his own business. His son John was instrumental in making this move for his father and now he is able to stay home and relax along with his wife Ruth. May God bless you all!

Sheila Bride

After spending a major part of our life with the airlines, we want to stay connected to the industry although our traveling days are on hold for now. It's great to read the news about what is happening.
